Seeking 10th and 11th grade Latino students interested in the FE Program, a comprehensive life skills and entrepreneurial training program at DeSales University and an internship with local businesses, this summer. This program is at no cost to the students. Interning in high school can be a fantastic way to get some real world experience before heading off to college. Many students in high school use internships as a strategy to help decide their major, bolster their college applications and gain experience to better prepare in landing that college internship.
